

Have you experienced Cork's Ambassador Hotel lately?

IF YOU haven't, then be prepared for a wonderful experience. It's been luxuriously refurbished and redecorated, and is now way up there among the world's great establishments. The décor alone, with its specially-commissioned pale grey carpeting throughout, is enough to make you think you're in one of the great hotels of London or Paris. From the spacious tiled reception to the bedrooms with unequalled views of city and surrounding countryside, from the glamorous fin-de-siècle bar to the state-of-the-art health club, from fine dining to celebrating special events, the Ambassador is surely the jewel in the city's crown.

The views from the luxurious rooms with their wrought-iron balconies are simply breathtaking

Historic Building, Every Modern Luxury.

When you arrive at the Ambassador on the heights above the city, you are taking a step back in time. This fine mid-Victorian mansion, once a military hospital, became a hotel in 1997, with its unique architectural features lovingly restored and retained in the elegantly modern hotel. Original doorways, staircases, even wonderfully decorated 19th century radiators all add their touch to the atmosphere of opulent old-world grandeur that is the Ambassador Hotel today. Standing in its own grounds, it's a place apart. Now, with entirely new décor and refurbishment, it's somewhere to be proud of, somewhere to bring your friends and guests to show them what we can offer here in Cork. Once they (and you) have experienced the quality of accommodation, the standard of dining, the warm professional service and, above all, the incredible character at the Ambassador Hotel, you are sure to return again and again.

And it's so close to everything that the city has to offer, but drawn that little bit apart, so you can enjoy its wonderful peace and quiet. Just a few minutes walk from the main shopping business and cultural areas, the Ambassador Hotel is close to all amenities, as well as perfectly placed for visiting further afield: Fota Wildlife Park, Blarney Castle, and more. All the facilities you would expect from a four-star establishment, like complimentary car parking, high speed internet access and the latest addition, a Scandinavian sauna, but combined with that irresistible charm and friendly welcome that makes the Ambassador so special. Everybody is determined to make you feel at home, make you feel special.

Breathtaking Views, Wonderful Dining.

The views from the luxurious rooms with their wrought-iron balconies are simply breathtaking. It is hard to think of anywhere else in Cork you would get such a splendid vista of the city, the river, the surrounding hills and all the famous landmarks. And just once in your life you should try the VIP suite. Utter indulgence. Don't you deserve that for perhaps a special anniversary?

In McGettigan's Cookhouse & Bar you can enjoy a quiet drink with friends or savour fine Irish food from the best ingredients, locally sourced wherever possible. For that ultimate experience of olden days, try their utterly luxurious Afternoon Tea. You'll think you're at the Savoy in London! They even offer a pre-theatre supper for those heading out to enjoy Cork's many evening attractions. The Ambassador is so well placed for making the most of everything Cork has to offer – and at the end of a wonderful day, you return to your stately home on the heights above the city. We promise, once you've tried the Ambassador, it will become a favourite place to which you return again and again.

Discover Cork's Own Downton Abbey!

Come and see what this splendid hotel has to offer. Book your special guests in here. Sample its delights for yourself, with lunch, dinner or afternoon tea. Celebrate a First Communion or Confirmation, hold your daughter's wedding here. The stately ballroom would grace a first class liner and ensure an unforgettable day. And of course they are extremely popular for conferences, offering all the facilities and comforts an organiser could require. Cork's Ambassador Hotel. It combines the atmosphere of a privileged yesteryear combined with the most modern conveniences. If you've ever yearned for Downton Abbey, then why not discover – or rediscover – the Ambassador?

Contact

The Ambassador Hotel,
Military Hill, Cork
Tel: 021-4539000
info@ambassadorhotel.ie
www.ambassadorhotel.ie

